Introduction
Research shows that increasing a young person’s connection with school will have a positive impact on academic achievement. This sense of connectedness reduces bullying, emotional distress, absenteeism and violent and disruptive behaviour, and it increases school retention rates. There is strong evidence to suggest that this increased connectedness will promote educational motivation and classroom engagement and will improve school attendance.

At Good Samaritan Catholic Primary School (the School), we acknowledge the Gospel truth that we are all called to ‘have life and have it abundantly’ (Jn 10:10) and our commitment is to the development of the whole person – spiritually, emotionally, socially, intellectually and physically.

Purpose
The purpose of this Framework is to articulate the expectations and aspirations of the School community in relation to student engagement and behaviour.

Our School Community is committed to providing equitable access and opportunity for all children. Awareness of, recognition of, and response to the needs and rights of all individuals are essential to human dignity. These are also essential elements of the Catholic identity of the School. Inclusive practices embrace and celebrate diversity, invite belonging and provide opportunities for participation and achievement of appropriate learning outcomes.

Guiding Principles
A number of guiding principles support our approach to promoting student engagement and positive behaviour that enables a life fully lived:

1. The life and teachings of Jesus provide inspiration, guidance and strength in all relationships and interactions. Jesus provides the ultimate expression of love, justice, compassion and reconciliation. It is in authentic relationship with one another that Catholics truly come to know the love of Jesus.

2. A positive school environment is guided by Gospel values and honours the dignity of the individual, the family and the school.

3. The development and promotion of high-quality relationships are responsibilities shared by all members of the School community.

4. Respect for individual dignity and uniqueness

5. A wealth of opportunities are offered to young people for them to grow and develop their abilities and talents;

6. A balanced focus on cognitive, affective, social, professional, ethical and spiritual aspects of development;

7. Encouragement for every pupil to develop their talents, in a climate of cooperation and solidarity;

8. Respect of ideas, openness to dialogue, the ability to interact and work together in a spirit of freedom and care.
School Values

A fundamental belief at Good Samaritan Catholic Primary School is that Jesus is seen in God's image and likeness in its human expression, and that Jesus' life and teachings show all people 'the way, the truth and the life' (Jn 14:6).

In accordance with this belief, the School’s Core Values underpin the promotion of student engagement and positive behaviour:

Mercy: We act with kindness and with a heart full of love.

Compassion: We seek to understand the needs of others and are willing to help them.

Justice: We treat everyone fairly, recognising that each individual has both rights and responsibilities.

Respect: We value the sacredness and dignity of each person.

Excellence: We strive to be the very best we can possibly be.

These values guide the development of policies and processes that support student engagement and positive behaviour.

Definition

Student engagement can be defined as three interrelated components:

1. Behavioural engagement which refers to students’ participation in education, including the academic, social and extracurricular activities of the school.

2. Cognitive engagement relates to a students’ investment in learning and their intrinsic motivation and self-regulation.

3. Emotional engagement encompasses students’ emotional reactions in the classroom and in the school and refers to a students’ sense of belonging or connectedness to the school.

Rights and Responsibilities

The charter of Human Rights and Responsibilities Act (2006) outlines a vision of human rights for all Victorians. The charter affirms that all people are born free and equal in dignity and rights. While the charter demands equality for all, it also emphasise the value of difference. The charter requires the School and its employees to act compatibly with human rights and to consider them when making decisions and delivering services.

The Disability Standards for Education 2005 seeks to eliminate, as far as possible, discrimination against people with disabilities. Under Section 22 of the Act it is unlawful for an educational authority to discriminate against a person on the grounds of the person’s disability or a disability of any associates of that person. The standards clarify and make more explicit the obligations on the School and the rights of students under the Disability Discrimination Act 1992. The standards cover enrolment, participation, curriculum development, student support services and harassment and victimisation.

A Whole of School Approach

We recognise that a wide range of factors influence the promotion of student engagement and positive behaviour. These include:

1. High Quality Teaching

• Teaching practices across the school reflect the belief that, although students are at different stages in their learning and may be progressing at different rates, all students are capable of learning successfully if motivated and given appropriate learning opportunities and necessary support.

• Teachers work to ensure that all students are appropriately engaged, challenged and extended by designing classroom activities to meet students' learning needs, levels of readiness, interests, aspirations and motivations.

• Teachers closely monitor the progress of individual students and continually adjust their teaching in response to the progress that individuals are making.

• Teachers encourage and assist students to monitor their own learning and to set goals for future learning.

• Tailored, early and sustained interventions are in place for students identified as requiring additional support, including students returning to school after a period of absence/disengagement.

• Professional learning activities are focused on building teachers’ understandings of highly effective teaching strategies.

• School leaders spend time working with teachers, providing feedback on teaching and, where appropriate, modeling effective teaching strategies.

2. Systematic Curriculum Delivery

• The School places a priority on making the curriculum culturally and contextually relevant and adopts a strengths-based approach to recognising, valuing and building on students’ existing knowledge and skills.

• The curriculum provides opportunity for learning that offers broad, rich and relevant experiences that students value and that support the development of the whole person.

• The curriculum plan and curriculum delivery (including the time allocated to particular learning) balance requirements to address all learning areas and gives priority to Religious Education, English, Mathematics and Science.

• The curriculum includes a strong focus on the development of cross-curricular skills and attributes such as literacy, numeracy, information and communication technology capability, critical and creative thinking, personal and social capability, ethical behaviour and intercultural understanding.
